

CONFÉRENCES

Professeur invité de l'EHESS

Matthew Wilson
Ball State University

BALL STATE
UNIVERSITY

INDIANA

Invité Dominique Ingua-Prat

Centre d'études en sciences sociales de Religion

Matthew Wilson PhD is an Intellectual historian at Ball State University, College of Architecture and Planning in Muncie, Indiana. He has taught the global history of architecture at learned institutes in Europe and the Americas, and has presented his research on urbanism at conferences across the world. Wilson's research focuses on the nineteenth and twentieth-century political, philosophical, critical, and epistemological aspects of environmental design. He was awarded a postgraduate degree with distinction from the Architecture Association in London. Wilson's subsequent PhD research as a Colonial Scholar at Royal Holloway, University of London, was awarded La Biennale d'Auguste Comte's Prix de Thèse. He is the author of Moralising Space: The Utopian Urbanism of the British Provinces, 1800-1900. Wilson's lecture series at Ball State University, Modernity in Science, Society is entitled The Hinduist Spatial Imagination: a history of Cambridge studies in Britain.

Three quarters 'Mumbo Jumbo' and a feminist. The utopian sociology of Harriet Martineau, E.S. Beesly, J.H. Bridges, and Frederic Marneton

JEUDI 9 MAI 2019, 19H00-19H00 - SALLE ALPHONSE-DUPRONT, 19 RUE MONSIEUR-LE-PRINCE 75004 PARIS

Dans le cadre de séminaire de Dominique Ingua-Prat Religion et utopies sociales

La modernité médiévale dans l'écritures contemporaines (1820-1900), séance double

Who is Richard Congreve? It will be asked

MARCHI 21 MAI 2019, 17H00-19H00 - CHAPELLE DE L'HUMANITÉ - 5, RUE PAYENNE 75009 PARIS (MÉTRO ST PAUL) 1ER ÉTAGE

Dans le cadre de séminaire de Auguste Comte d'Auguste Comte

Moralising the Modernists: British Colonialism and utopian spatial design

JEUDI 23 MAI 2019 - 17H00-19H00 - EHESS - SALLE 8 - 105 BO RASPAIL, 75006 PARIS

Dans le cadre des débats de Collar